Published: July 2nd, 2023 (Revised August 31st, 2023)

Oversight: High Performance Director

INTRODUCTION

The purpose of Boxing Canada's HPPC Pilot Project is to support the development of Boxing Canada's coaches and enhance their ability to produce senior continental and world results by creating an environment and system that allow personal coaches to integrate into the national team and work exclusively with their club athletes at international camps and competitions.

Once the national team programs are published and circulated, the national team program will highlight activities where HPPC activities are possible. Where possible, appointments will be announced three months before an event.

This opportunity is also open to 1) coaches identified by their Provincial/Territorial Boxing Organization interested in furthering their coaching education and experience and 2) nationally identified coaches as determined by Boxing Canada's HPD.

Three types of HPPC applications are possible:

1. Individual coaches with personal athlete attending targeted competitions may self-nominate
2. PTSOs may nominate based upon organizational coach professional development priorities

EXPECTATIONS

The personal coach is an invitee of Boxing Canada and, as such, is expected to conduct themselves respectfully and professionally. Should a personal coach's behaviour be contrary to the terms and conditions that the selected coaches are held to and which are viewed to impact the team or Boxing Canada's reputation negatively, then the personal coach's interaction with the team may be restricted at the discretion HPD or in their absence, by the Executive Director.

Personal coaches will, when available, be provided with national team outfitting.

Personal coaches will be invited to attend domestic or international training camps before the targeted event.

Personal coaches must acquire the international coaching licenses (Accreditation/Certification) required by the event at their own expense.

At the end of the event, the Head Coach or Team Lead will provide feedback (verbal or written) to the HPPC to enhance their professional development. The HPPC will be requested to provide feedback on how Boxing Canada's HPPC Pilot Program can be improved.

Boxing Canada embraces modern coaching standards and practices. As such, Boxing Canada is committed to creating open and observable environments at all National Team events, training camps and competitions. Teams staff, including personal coaches, must commit to ensuring that all interactions between an athlete and an individual in a position of trust should normally and wherever possible be in an environment or space that is open and observable to others.
